

To Agnes Watson Lindsay

(1)

Again we meet in the same old way
To greet Aunt Aggie on her birth-day
Your friends gather from far and near
To wish you joy and lots of cheer

(2)

Tho' you've reached the age of seventy
Still you're well ~~feeling~~ and feeling fine
Able to do your work sewing as well
The quilts that you make surely are well

(3)

And the beautiful doilies and lace some
I know there's no young girl can beat
And the yards & yards you have given away
How many I wouldn't venture to say

(4)

You've raised a good family seven girls and two boys
With the exception of Jim they are near you every one
To help cheer and bless your day by day
Now you are growing old and your hair is gray

(5)

Uncle Jim also has worked hard indeed
In grubbing the sage and planting the seed
That he might provide for his family of nine
To do this it kept him real busy all the time

(6)

We hope when next year rolls around
With Uncle Jim near you here you'll be found
In this lovely valley out here in the West
In your own cozy home with the ones you love best

Mrs Chas McPhie

Aug. 25 1931

Written to Agnes Watson Lindsay - wife of James Lindsay.

